Arka Literary Club organizes Literary Fest paying tribute to J N Tata

On the 181st birth anniversary of the founder of Tata Steel and Tatanagar, Mr. J. N. Tata Arka Literary Club organized a day long literary fest under the aegis of the English Department of Arka Jain University. On this occasion, quiz, dance, singing, Jicksaw puzzle, Just a minute, Best out of waste, face or hand painting, debate, creative writing competitions were held in which a good deal of participants turned up and showcased their talent.

Earlier to it, the Vice-Chancellor Prof. (Dr.) S S Razi, Director (Campus) Dr. Angad Tiwari, Registrar Mr. Jasbir Dnjl, Health Sciences Dean Dr. Jyotirmay Sahu and convenor of the Arka literary Club Ms. Rajkumari Ghosh inaugurated the fest by lighting the holy lamp. Prof. Razi described the event as of high impact and complimented to organize the Literary Fest, taking into account the birthday of J N Tata. He further said the Literary Club is growing awareness in students by such events and students are getting good opportunities to display their art.

The students welcomed the guests with a welcome song and a tribal dance of Jharkhand.
Ms. Rajkumari Ghosh, Dr Rupa Sarkar, Ms. Shahin Fatma and Dr. Manoj K Pathak were instrumental to make it a success.

In the fest the participants bequeathed the cultural narrative. The idea behind the literary fest was to orient literature, to encourage the love for literature, to improve written and spoken expression, to inculcate the best qualities in students.

This was the second fest which originated last year, with a group of students and the professors of English department, who took an initiative to create a platform for the students of the entire university where they can give their imagination, art, skill, cretaivity an establishment, where they can pen down all their emotions, and where they can voices can get amplified.

The ambience of the campus was artistically charged, as there were events such as - creative writing, debate, extempore, declamation, quiz, vocals and dance that tied the audience and the participants together.

The fest was successful in such a way that it broke the mould of traditional literary fest and became truly a new experience as well as a benchmark that needs to be fulfilled in the years coming.
